Thank you for joining us to learn about how the “new normal” can be inclusive of people with disabilities.

This webinar series is sponsored by the National Center on Advancing Person-Centered Practices and Systems (NCAPPS).

NCAPPS is funded by the Administration for Community Living and Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services.

NCAPPS webinars are free and open to the public.

The goal of NCAPPS is to promote systems change that makes person-centered principles not just an aspiration but a reality in the lives of people across the lifespan.

Who's Here?

“In what role(s) do you self-identify? Select all that apply.”

1. Person with a disability/person who uses long-term services and supports
2. Family member/loved one of a person who uses long-term services and supports
3. Self-advocate/advocate
4. Peer specialist/peer mentor
5. Social worker, counselor, or care manager
6. Researcher/analyst
7. Community or faith-based service provider organization employee
8. Government employee (federal, state, tribal, or municipal)

The idea of normal that we seem to hold in our minds really doesn't include disabled people. We have an understanding of normal as something that works for people who are non-disabled, who don't have to take health precautions and access needs into consideration on a day-to-day basis. Are we talking about returning to a world that takes into consideration the lessons we've learned from the pandemic or going right back to excluding disabled people?
